

CASE STUDY: Workplace Violence & Surveillance

OVERVIEW

A globally recognized financial institution required support for mitigation of a workplace violence concern. The Person of Interest (POI) had made concerning threats to the life of a female employee. As a result, our team were contacted to provide a 24/7 protective detail for the employee, alongside 24/7 surveillance of the POI while a thorough investigation was conducted.

CHALLENGES & SOLUTIONS

The organization required support over a 12-month period. As a leader in the security and intelligence industry, we were able to provide the client with a tailored solution that met their requirements for a round-the-clock service for both the employee and POI, without compromising on results.

A team of over 20 highly experienced security professionals was provided to facilitate both the 24/7 protection of the victim and her family, and the constant surveillance of the POI.

Utilizing our extensive intelligence expertise, we provided an intel team to undertake the constant monitoring of the POI's digital footprint, allowing us to gain a deeper, real-time insight into his patterns of behavior and monitor the ongoing threat level that he posed to the victim.

As part of our unwavering commitment to our clients, we provided detailed reports every 12 hours, resulting in over 700 written reports throughout the duration of the case.

After 12-months of continuous surveillance and protective detail, the determination was made that the POI no longer posed a significant threat to the victim.

AT A GLANCE

- Intelligence
- Surveillance
- 24/7 Executive Protection (Protective Detail)
- Residential/Estate Security

“Incidents of workplace violence highlight the critical need for proactive security measures; protecting the workplace and remaining personnel is paramount when emotions run high and unpredictability reigns.”

David Dezso

CEO & Founder ROWAN Security